Care-O-sel's Helping Stories

A Care-O-sel Home Visitor discovered a homeless couple sleeping in their car on Christmas eve. They were expecting a baby in March and had lost their job and housing. The mother to be had multiple health concerns. Our home visitor began working intensely with this family. By the time their child was born the father had a job and they were in their own home. They are so proud of their little one and continue to provide a secure and nurturing home life for him.

A very young teenage mother cried when her baby received more presents under the Christmas tree than she did. Care-O-sel's Home Visitor helped her to re-enroll in high school and set in place safe child care for her baby. The Care-O-sel staff enabled this young mother, who was a child herself, to finish high school and continue her own growth and development. This mom went on to marry and raise a family. She is a successful member of our community.
